Subject: Projects We Love: Dogs, Bears, Humans

Date: Thu, 27 Mar 2014 20:32:28 +0000

Last week we spoke with the creators of this amazing sleep-talking project. Then we added over 50 movie theaters to the Kickstarter IRL map. Now if you'll please excuse us — we've got lots more people to talk to, and lots of places to go!

Sit Stay Ride: The Story of America's Sidecar Dogs

Sit Stay Ride: The Story of America's Sidecar Dogs

By Eric Ristau and Geneva Liimatta

A pair of motorcyclists zooms down the road. In the sidecar is their trusted canine companion, wearing his own goggles — er, doggles. Sit Stay Ride is a documentary about the dogs who ride alongside their humans, and the bond that exists between them as they travel down the American highway.

Talk to me London Day

Talk to me London Day

By Talk to me London

It can be hard to connect in a big city: you can sit on a bench next to a stranger for an hour and never exchange words. Talk To Me London aims to change that with a day of events designed to foster community among Londoners. There'll be public art, flash mobs, and wearable badges, all intended to get people talking.

 Bear Simulator

Bear Simulator

By Farjay Studios

The Bear Simulator is a game that finally — finally — answers the questions we have about what it's like to be a bear. Wander through the woods, eat some fish, maybe yank on a branch or eye some berries — you have a lot of options. It's as close to being a wild bear as any of us will ever get.

The most backed project of all time.
Veronica Mars. Now on iTunes.
