Jeffrey,

how are you doing? I'm a bit sick, which means my brain doesn't work very well today..

Anyhow, I wanted to wait until we met in person for this, but things are speeding up a bit (read: a bunch of people are verbally committing to invest), so it's probably a good time to send you the deck&exec summary of the thing I'm thinking about.

I guess my three questions are:

- 1) What do you think?
- 2) Can you think of anybody who might be interested in investing into this?
- 3) Do you want to invest?

Tbh I would prefer (2) to (3), just cause this way if this goes south it's not your money. On the other hand, you'd probably have fun being involved and I actually like you which is good for me (trying hard to stay away from the usual SV/douchy investors crowd).

In any case, if you like this then maybe we should try to meet before the first week of December. I think you're going to your island at some point in November, if it's ok I'd show up there so that we can talk F2F sooner rather than later.

If instead you don't want to invest then let's keep the meeting in December just to catch up on random stuff

Take care,
Vincenzo
