i spoke with adam this morning and he currently has a right yamaha 200 hp engine and expects to have a left engine in next 10 days he said the shaft for 200 hp engines is 5" shorter and he must make an extension to install engines on your sportis adam said he would email and call on friday for an update on timing but realistically week of august 18th is when they will have answers in speaking with adam he said that most engines installed on these boats are diesel, 200hp and inboard this may be why they are so ignorant to our issues..

is his response sufficient of shall i take a more aggressive approach please advise
