Rich mentioned that you had not seen my question to you about audio/video recommendation for Zorro, so I'm resending it. I question the use of Crestron products

Jeffrey,

Brice and Karen sent this proposal over Friday for approval.

My recommendation would be not to use a system at the ranch that is Crestron based. They make nice products, but a Crestron technician is needed every time something needs an update, a reset or repair.

In New York I'd be fine with Crestron, but I would feel better with a system at the remote ranch that consists of more enduser friendly components. When it breaks on a Saturday night during movie hour... Then we have an issue.

I am looking into an iPad based solution right now

Thanks

John

*Good Evening John,
Attached completed Project Request and Approval Form for the Repair of the Great Room Audio System and the Replacement of the existing Sony Remote for the Theater Room, both items Jeffery requested that they be reviewed and to forward options.*

I have broken it down to 2 Projects, with a seperate labor cost breakdown, which would be broken down if only 1 Project is approved

Warmest regards

Karen
