Great!

> .//////// On another note. I think it now time as you are settled and secure to hone your presentation skills. if you dont , this will greatly hold you back and more importantly will cloud your very insightful ideas from taking root. . I think, what do you think " what do you think , not once when talking to either marving or chomsky, ask them to help correct your thinking, ask them if you understand correctly what they just said, you need to establish a feedback loop with them. you talk , watch their reaction and respond with a modulation. . if you cant pick up the cues, ask the question as you talked about your true or false right or wrong. you ask yourself the question . verbalize a similar query and ask them if they agree, understand want to comment. . lecturing chomsky minsky or a group is against your interests. digest what they say first. beofre spitting out your old ideas.

Thank you; you are right, of course, and I appreciate your advice very much!
Bests,

Joscha
