Jeffrey:

Thanks for your call.

I just arrived on St. Thomas and, as I mentioned. I'm headed back to Boston on Friday Morning / And Yes, I will be meeting with the Governor while I am here.

As I mentioned to you when we spoke, the Project that we discussed, is officially getting underway and it serves two (2) very important purposes:

1.) To Protect, Reinforce, and Continue to Build Upon Stacey's currently very strong political position and the High Favorability Ratings she currently has ahead of next year / This is important because she is definitely going to have an opponent next year (2018) and that opponent is going to be backed by Ken Mapp, because Ken "HATES" the fact that she is more popular than him / Current word on the street is that they are trying to recruit Shawn Michael Malone. However, when this Project gets completed and the data analysis and models are in place, there is no way they are going to be able to beat her.

2.) Also, when completed, the final results of our Project puts us in an "incredibly strong position" and I do mean "incredibly strong" for the 2018 Elections should it be decided that we want to make a move / We may, or may not, choose to make a move but, more importantly, when the Project is completed our team will be making decisions based on strong and reliable data analysis (something no one else in the entire territory has, or even understands right now). If we do decide to look at another Candidate it will be done through the prism of what our well defined strengths and weaknesses are within the established Models and Data Analysis, and we will know if it is feasible and/or doable. What is MOST important is that we will be making those decisions based on Data and Analysis, which to date has never been wrong in 10 Years.

As far as your query about John Della Volpe doing Polling, my guess would be based on the fact that Mapp did not like the numbers he saw in November 2016 based on my most recent Survey Research and Analysis. He may well be conducting a Secondary Survey and probably influencing John in order to get the type of results he wants to hear. That's fine if he wants to do it but, just for the record is a horrible way to do Polling and it never, ever, ever works (The Numbers are the Numbers - And manipulating a Survey to get what you want to hear is no Survey at All. The other problem with this is that in 2014 John's numbers were off by about 4-6% Points (which is significant given such a small territory where the Population is about 100,000 and the Average Voter turnout is 24,000 to 26,000). For the record, using our analysis methods we never had a difference greater than 1% the whole time we have done this.

Once again, a Year from now is a fucking eternity in the business (4 Weeks earlier in 2016 and Hillary is President) so an entire year - I cannot tell you what is going to happen in a year, but I can tell you the end results of this project is a model/mechanism that puts us, Stacey, and a potential candidate at a tremendous advantage over the field.

Sorry for the length of the email, I'll wrap up by saying the discussions around the specifics of the Project and the Targets and Goals are better being had in person, so when I return from the VI, I will email you and depending on your Schedule, I will make arrangements to go to wherever you are and plan around what works best for you

Let me know and Thanks again for getting back to me. I know Stacey appreciates it

Sorry we did not connect in NYC / I did not hear back from you, but I imagine you are very busy these days

Anyway, just wanted to drop you a quick FYI and Update / I am boarding a Flight to St. Thomas now and will be on island until Friday Morning.

The Project that we are trying to set up a meeting together to discuss, is underway with others officially on board and committed. I would still like to sit down (face to face) and discuss with you, and hopefully get you buy-in and support ahead of next year

Let me know what your Schedule looks like in the coming weeks when you get a chance and we'll get it figured out how we can nail down a time to meet

Hope you are well,

McGee
