Further to our conversation when we receive the executed promissory note (for $30.5mm) and personal guarantee later today we will wire transfer an additional $8mm to Plan D. To keep the accounting of interest simple, tomorrow you will wire transfer to us the approximately $11,000 of interest due on the old note. We will also rip up the old note and return it to darren. Thanks, brad

Rich-i spoke to leon; all is fine. Today I will be moving the $8mm into bv70 and then, subject to getting clean paperwork, to plan d. Ada seems to feel that it would be easier to do a second $8mm note rather than using the restated one at $30.5; think it has to do with tracking interest accurately. She is calling Darren to work through. Thx, b
