sorry to have taken so long to respond. we are working on a huge transaction and it has taken my focus, Eduardo I appreciated what you have done however I seem unable to communicate to you effectively that this is my home. it is not a commercial development. the house is too mundane and looks more like a country club, the scale is not right. it is a hurricane environment. so streams get filled with leaves and dirt. and as i said maintenance is a problem with local staff. I am just looking at buying a palace in morocco. the scale is great. 6 meter ceilings. etc. as i said at our meeting the them should be a prince was shipwrecked on the island and had the natives recreate his palace from back home.
