I talked with more people

There is a pot of land (about 3.3 acres Land)right next to Boston art museum and northeastern university

It is an excellent location : right next to Harvard medical complex

The land is around 80 million

Then there is building cost,which can be expensive

There is also other opportunity : 60 acres of land of a complex which was the head quarter of Boston globe (the newspaper)

They are asking 80 million

But renovation would be in the order of 10

Million

Location is right next to the JFK library

So not bad as it is along the red line

Yau

Best regards
