

From: Bob Berwick <[REDACTED]>
To: "jeffrey E." <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Subject: Re:
Date: Sat, 05 Sep 2015 16:11:35 +0000

Jeffrey

So your view is that the social media jazz is a fad that will fizzle and fade fairly soon, no?
Bob

On Sep 5, 2015, at 11:00 AM, jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com> wrote:

i will spend all the time you like teaching you about investing and the markets. simpler than it appears.. I would like chomsky to follow in the footsteps of hibert, turing , and encourage work in their fiels by presenting goals to the disciples.

On Sat, Sep 5, 2015 at 10:03 AM, Bob Berwick <[REDACTED]> wrote:

Hi Jeffrey,

Ah very cool.

So let me try a few out.

I guess it partly (! of course!) depends on how much we get to stick into the box. I'm fine with prize money, mostly because as you know from Marvin, there's no way to get funding for "real" problems like these or those that Marvin studies, nsf & darpa and toyota (as you just saw) only care about self-driving cars. So I'd be overjoyed to get some way to fund new students....

Challenge 1. Discriminating language from noise.
This is doable. Partha Niyogi nearly did it. A six-month effort.

Challenge 2. Ah, depends on the sentences and what 'coherent' means.
Does Noam mean 'screwed up in some way'? We're not so far from that.
Further than 1. That system I showed you that can isolate diff factors in syntax as a small set of constraints can do some of that.
Recall Shimon Ullman's 'rigidity principle' about the interpretation of points moving in the visual field - same coherence idea.

Challenges 3 and 4 are much harder, we'd have to know more about 'meaning' and 'inference'. I wouldn't be happy with statistical curve fitting here.

Finally - though I will drop this, because your time is too valuable and the problems you and Noam pose are the important ones, to me — what was your estimate of how much that twitter-in-love entrepreneur would have lost if he did honestly follow his twitter-predictor during the first week of this month? I guess I am still baffled about the "market" for their product unless it's as you say, the market for the new, shiny toys - which is just about salesmanship, not science. Anyway, I'll drop it - I was just curious as why/how any of that social media stuff would work. I suppose they will say that they have 300 M users, not all of them will be lying... and one can sort the liars from the non-liars....but so what?

best wishes bob

On Sep 5, 2015, at 8:20 AM, jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com> wrote:

noam, as always , spending time . was great/ first draft. of the Chomsky Challenge. . Produce a non- living system that can be put into an environment for a while and --- 1 . be able to discriminate language from noise. . prize . a 1 dollar bill signed by Noam and 100k. . 2. be able to discriminate coherent sentences from non (we provide 10 test sentences). prize a 10 dollar signed Chomsky bill , and 500k. 3. a language learning module. 20 dollar bill signed and 1 million, 4. a sense making module that can understand meaning inference. . etc. the non recommendation recommendation. . ie the student has a nice family. etc. a 100 dollar signed bill and 10 million dollars. ? --- If your left leaning , is in conflict with a money prize , we could substitute ---your prize money goes to charity,- airline tickets to the Gaza strip. - Nicaragua, North Korea, . and 1000 blank ,protest placards ? or top prize includes 1000 protesters of your choice for three demonstrations :)

--

please note

The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of JEE

Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited and may be unlawful. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately by return e-mail or by e-mail to jeevacation@gmail.com, and destroy this communication and all copies thereof, including all attachments. copyright -all rights reserved