With Alan's involvement in CVRA over, and with you not being a party to defamation case, and with an unpredictability as to how judges in Broward would rule on discovery demands for "common interest" emails particularly after the CVRA ruling of last week, be cautious what you email to Alan especially if its not a legal question to him as part of your legal team rather than a matter more relevant to his case. I still strongly believe that the basis for a common interest agreement exists given the overlapping attacks on you/he but you know better than I the uncertainty of discovery rulings in state court..

assume we are attempting to take interlocutory appeal of Maras order on the motion for protective order. However, he did make it clear he would police and treat harshly wholesale dumping of documents in the record that have no bearing on CVRA lawsuit against the US. Look at this order in conjunction with the last orde, r clear he is trying to keep all the sensational crap out of the record Jack Goldberger [REDACTED]
