It has been on the market for a couple of years and has not been a problem. It is a good combination for both payload and fuel economy. The next step would be a full size van.

i am concerned that horsepower of 131 and torque of 139 is to weak does city express come with a larger engine or is there something that is more powerful that you would recommend please advise
thank you

Rich,
Please see attached for purchase order along with pictures of the bulkhead.
The Horsepower is 131 and 139 lbs of torque. The fuel economy is est. of 25mpg and a cruising range of 348 miles.
I have confirmed with the dealer that we can have the unit once you give me the go ahead.
Thank you.
