HermanSjr returns to The Talk 2 Q Radio Show - Psychological Strategy

by Herman Sjr.

HermanSjr returns to T2Q to discuss his wheelhouse, Psychological Strategy! What is it exactly? Well, the long definition is here (<http://www.blogtalkradio.com/talk2q/2015/01/30/q-on-1-whermansjr>), but the short definition is essentially the power of influence. We will discuss that and how you can use it for marketing purposes or to find out when it's being used against you. I'll ask him a few of the following questions: -What are some of the Psychological Strategies used by businesses? -How do you learn Psychological Strategy and how to apply it? -How can it help your...

Taking the new public diplomacy online: Russia and China

by Greg Simons

Russia and China have become significant players in terms of their activity within public diplomacy (PD), in a relatively short space of time. This article seeks to address the way these two countries manage the concept and practice of PD in an online communication environment (namely, Websites and social media). Cases will be used to illustrate how this is managed in practice. The case of the South China Seas dispute and the Ukrainian crisis will be used to demonstrate how these difficult issues are managed. There are a number of similarities between the two countries, but also some...

Mediation and digital intensities: Topology, psychology and social media

by Ian Tucker and Lewis Goodings

Social media are said to offer seemingly endless ways of connecting with people in a variety of online spaces. The mediated form that such communication takes has re-opened many theoretical debates regarding the status of relationships that are organized and managed online. In this paper we seek to explore these issues through the lens of topological thinking, and particularly through the work of Kurt Lewin (1890-1947). Lewin's topological psychology has recently featured in the social sciences as a way of overcoming some of the, frankly unhelpful, dualistic thinking that features commonly...

Issues of using information communication technologies in higher education

by Emma Clayes and Paul Oliver

Social media sites such as Facebook and Twitter are examples of information communication technologies (ICTs) that have been widely adopted by students, and could potentially be useful as a resource for teaching and learning in further and higher educational institutions. Facebook tops the charts in social networking space, but when it comes to social messaging on mobiles WhatsApp walks away as the winner (Spohr, 2013). Facebook have recently purchased the popular social mobile app (Tech2, 2013). However, the use of social media has brought about numerous logistical issues and ethical...

Forgotten Society

by Tes Lux/Nassau

Note: You need to click on the Youtube link on the left side! This project tries to create awareness to the shifting nature of society. Society has adapted to challenges of globalization, terrorism, violence, and mistrust. Consequently, homeless people are often forgotten. They are also a part of our society. They breath the same air, feel the cold, look for shelter on rainy days, and need some affection from their peers in order to feel loved, completed and just accepted as an individual. Don't look away. I know its easier to just walk by and don't stop--&gt;not even look. That is due...
