

HEADING

CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

Paul Cassell and Bradley Edwards, individually, and Alan Dershowitz, individually, enter this Confidentiality Agreement as a material condition to their resolution of the above-captioned lawsuit. In particular, each party agree to the following:

1. The Parties agree that the source {and amount} of any money or other financial instrument that is paid to either Party in settlement of this matter is strictly confidential and shall not be disclosed at any time to any third party;
2. Any third party who is advised of the source {and amount} of the settlement must sign a document acknowledging that such third party is aware of this confidentiality provision and is bound by it;
3. Each Party agrees that if either Party breaches the confidentiality provision of this Agreement, that the appropriate remedy for such breach is the disgorgement of the entire settlement amount received by that Party. If a breach is alleged, and there is no agreement as to its occurrence, each Party agrees to binding and confidential arbitration before a mutually agreed arbitrator {or Court?}
