its an airport express and it is serving a major role in jumping the wi-fi at the property the wiring there on the right side of the server room panels was used and after major testing ... i used <https://itunes.apple.com/us/app/wifi-explorer/id494803304?mt=12> and it gave you the fastest network at that location hard wired to the network

I was hoping we could find a small table to help hide the device as I understand why you may not like the location but I did not make the choice in haste at all

I hope it performed better than you had seen there
