Hey --

When are you going to be back in Boston next btw?

Madars found it engaging and will probably come up with some clever ideas by next time...

I'm also going to incorporate food stamps into my thesis now. One of the things I have been working on for my thesis (will send you a draft for review at some point soon) is an option-like asset which can be used for solar renewables (which have hour long phase shifts in production across "grid sized" areas).

Btw was this the ithaca thing? <http://www.ithacahours.com/>

Cheers,

Jeremy
