Re: Edwards adv. Epstein
Our File No.: 291874

Dear Ms. Coleman and Mr. Goldberger:

The sworn testimony given today by Scott Rothstein has now confirmed far beyond any doubt that Brad Edwards had no participation in and no knowledge of any use of the legitimate claims that Mr. Edwards prosecuted against your admittedly guilty sex offender client, Jeffrey Epstein. Indeed, you have had no reasonable basis to support any contrary belief at any time in the past, but now even baseless suspicion has been conclusively put to rest.

The multiple withdrawals from Mr. Epstein's representation by your predecessors strongly suggest that even before Scott Rothstein's deposition, they recognized that it would be unethical for them to continue to prosecute claims against Mr. Edwards that had absolutely no evidentiary support and were intended from the outset to serve Jeffrey Epstein's extortionate purposes. While you may have chosen to turn a blind eye to that conclusion before, it is now inescapable.

Notice that was previously given pursuant to F.S. §57.105 has proved to be no deterrent, and so I am obliged to inform you that if you choose to continue the prosecution of your pending claims in the face of the irrefutable proof of Bradley Edwards' total innocence of any wrongdoing, I have been authorized to initiate and vigorously prosecute claims against YOU and your law firms for malicious prosecution. In addition, I will take such other action as may be appropriate to address conduct that at this point will have far exceeded the bounds of ethical propriety.

You have ten days in which to respond before we proceed as described.

Sincerely,
