Getting in touch with these people

<https://www.homepolish.com/about-us>

They basically have a database of clients and designers and pair the client with the designer they think would be most suited to them and their needs.

Feasible on OPT...but have to think to the next step after OPT and whether this would be beneficial or not, haven't thought it through yet.

I know they like parsons and have been hanging around school a few times. Just have to see whether they would take fresh graduates
