Re: B.B. v. JEFFREY EPSTEIN
OUR FILE NO.: 080303

Dear Mr. Critton:

Thank you for your letter of May 12, 2009, but my client is under absolutely no obligation to comply with these onerous demands. Lest you have forgotten, it is my client that is the Plaintiff in this lawsuit and the one who was molested by your client. Plaintiff is under no obligation to preserve the over-broad scope of information that you have requested in your letter of May 12, 2009. Therefore, absent court order regarding this issue, there is no such requirement that she comply with these drastic actions. Furthermore, my client has no ability to maintain information which may be contained upon third parties websites or servers. I suggest that you file the appropriate motion with the court if you disagree with my position on this issue.

Sincerely,

SPENCER T. KUVIN
