12. Police records show that [REDACTED] came from an unstable and disturbed home,

(i.e. [REDACTED])

13. It is critical for an IME examiner to be able to make a cogent assessment of [REDACTED] any Plaintiff and to understand their medical, social, academic, psychological and psychiatric condition/state prior to any act of alleged victimization. There are a number of variables that combine to determine the effects of such alleged victimization, including the type and character of the alleged assault, and key victim variables such as demographics, psychological reactions at the time of the trauma, previous psychiatric or psychological history, previous victimization history, current or previous psychological difficulties, and general personality dynamics and coping style, as well as sociocultural factors such as drug use/abuse; poverty; social inequity and/or inadequate social support; any previous history of abuse within or outside the family; whether individuals were abused by strangers, acquaintances or family members; and whether there was any history of indiscriminate behavior that may have placed them at increased risk. It is important to know if there had been previous sexual conduct, contact with police or welfare agencies, alcohol or drug use/abuse, voluntary sexual activity, contraceptive use, genital infections, or apparent indifference to previous abuse.

14. It is also essential to understand the Plaintiff's level of emotional support, whether any significant psychiatric illnesses were present, whether they were taking any medications (prescribed or non-prescribed), whether there had

- been previous suicide attempts, thoughts, plans, etc.
15. Knowledge of Plaintiff's relationships to her family and familial factors, including social disadvantage, intrauterine exposure to toxic substances such as cocaine, family instability, impaired parent/child relationship, and parental adjustment difficulties is also critical.
 16. It is, therefore, crucial that the independent medical examiner has available to him a full and complete record that includes medical, previous legal, social, criminal, academic, psychological and psychiatric records/data; psychological tests; laboratory tests; and clinical, hospital, physician records and that they have time to conduct a full and complete Independent Medical Examination.
 17. The Independent Medical Examination will cover Plaintiff's full medical and psychiatric history, including: chief complaint, history of present illness, specific complaints of symptoms or injury, medical history, past psychiatric history, family history, abuse history, birth history, childhood history, school history, occupational history, violence history, legal history, relationship history, substance use history, sexual history, review of systems, activities of daily living, mental status examination, diagnoses using DSM-IV axes, and discussion of case findings and opinions.
 18. Psychological tests/scales and questionnaires: Zung Depression Scale, Zung

Anxiety Scale, Mini Mental State Examination, MCMI-III, MMPI-2 with forensic implications, Life History Questionnaire, and Forensic Questionnaire will be obtained to provide further objective data points.

19. Because Plaintiff's emotional and mental states have been put at issue, the undersigned must ask question of Plaintiff regarding her physical, emotional and mental problems, in the past and in the present, in order to form an expert opinion. Such examination will require seven hours with the Plaintiff. The IME requires the presence of only the Plaintiff and the examiner. Other individuals present will invalidate the process.
20. I have been retained as an expert in this matter and have been asked to perform an independent medical evaluation of Plaintiff [REDACTED]
21. I strenuously object to allowing the presence of a videographer, court reporter and/or attorney being present in the room during my examination of Plaintiff [REDACTED]
22. The presence of a videographer, court reporter and/or attorney in the examination room during my performance of an independent medical examination would create an artificial environment, distractions, and would compromise the integrity of my psychiatric examination. A video camera in the room connected to a monitor by cable outside the room would be

- acceptable.
23. Furthermore, enabling the presence of a videographer, court reporter and/or attorney in the examination room during my performance of an independent medical examination is a clear departure from the normal standards imposed within the psychiatric field for such an examination.
 24. As part of the performance of an independent medical examination, I require that examinees complete a "Patient Questionnaire" and a "Forensic Questionnaire" designed to elicit historical information about the examinee, which assists in my performance of the clinical examination and gives the examinee opportunity to review records obtained and obtain appropriate data prior to the examination.
 25. Requiring that a patient/examinee complete a questionnaire seeking the provision of historical information is a standard protocol of the clinical examination.
 26. My ability to provide a complete and thorough independent medical examination is compromised without the provision of the historical information sought in my "Patient Questionnaire" and "Forensic Questionnaire."
 27. Additionally, part of the independent medical examination consists of a consultation with the examinee, in which history and background information is obtained, and administration of various written standardized tests and scales is undertaken. The administration of such tests and scales goes to the essence of such examinations.

28. I have been asked to perform a psychiatric examination of Plaintiff [REDACTED] pursuant to a request in the above-styled cause for an independent medical examination.
29. I understand that Plaintiff's counsel has requested to videotape the examination and have counsel, a court reporter, or both present in the room during the examination.
30. The presence of third-party observers, meaning persons other than the examiner and examinee, in the examining room is inconsistent with standardized administration of the tests and changes the testing environment considerably by introducing extraneous variables that may distract the examinee and alter the results of the IME.
31. A psychiatric examination, which consists of, but is not limited to, interview, mental status examination, and tests of intelligence, memory, attention, concentration, problem solving, sensory-perceptual functioning, motor functioning and psychomotor problem-solving ability is properly conducted in the absence of third parties from the examination site (i.e., court reporter, attorney, videographer). The presence of third parties often affects the examinee's responses to examination items and may alter or distract their stream of thought.

32. For the above reasons, I oppose having third parties present in the examination room during an examination. I may choose not to perform the standard examination in the presence of third parties (court reporter, attorney, videographer) except under Court order and with the caveat that the test results may be invalid.
33. The examination of Plaintiff will be conducted in compliance with the ethical principles and code to which I am bound as a licensed psychiatrist. Plaintiff will be allowed to take breaks, as she may need, to relax, eat, drink, and visit the restroom.
34. In the event that I must conduct an examination with an attorney present, but outside the examination room, I request that there be no interruption in the examination. Interruptions will distract the Plaintiff, disrupt the examination and skew the validity of the examination. If present, the attorney should not coach the examinee during the examination or during breaks or otherwise.
35. It is not possible to predict the exact amount of time that will be necessary for an appropriate psychiatric examination of Plaintiff [REDACTED] because of unknown variables such as the amount of information that will be covered in the consultation segment and the pace at which Plaintiff will perform the standardized tests. Such examinations generally take approximately six to seven hours (excluding any break time), with approximately four to six hours used for the face-to-face consultation segment and approximately two to three hours used for the testing segment. However, in this case, I anticipate the IME of Plaintiff to take approximately between five and eight hours, excluding break time. Additional time may be necessary for [REDACTED] to complete testing on her own, which most patients complete in one to two hours. If [REDACTED] has not completed the "Patient Questionnaire" and the "Forensic Questionnaire" before the examination, which was provided to her attorney prior to the examination, additional time will be needed to obtain pertinent historical information.

PROCEEDINGS

THE COURT: All right. Let's try to get through this quickly because I do have the jury waiting and I have other matters.

MR. GOLDSTEIN: Your Honor, before counsel starts, can I approach and give you the case law that I have, the one Supreme Court case. I believe it is on point. I took the liberty of highlighting the portions that I have applied.

MR. PIKE: Judge, if I may approach with some affidavits from the IME physician.

MR. GOLDSTEIN: Scott Goldstein for Plaintiff.

MR. PIKE: Michael Pike for Jeffrey Epstein.

Judge, we're here today on our motion to compel pursuant to Rule 1.360, a neuropsychological examination of the Plaintiffs █ and █.

THE COURT: Neuropsychological?

MR. PIKE: Psychological.

THE COURT: That's two different things.

MR. PIKE: Correct. We're here today because the Federal court in the companion cases have ruled that Plaintiffs' counsel can be present in an adjacent room with the video feed monitoring the happenings in the room with regard to our psychologist.

Today it's my understanding, and I don't know if Plaintiffs' motion had been noticed but Plaintiffs filed a motion for an order permitting legal counsel to attend the independent medical examination. So it might conserve judicial resources to hear both our motion and their motion.

It's my understanding that counsel does not have an objection to the time, the hours involved in these psych exams. They just want their attorney to be present.

The case law is, the case law that was provided to me today anticipates that there shall be someone present for the Plaintiff or it shall be videotaped. That's what the Supreme Court case says.

And it's on page, it's actually on Page 5 of the opinion that counsel provided me today. The problem is is we filed affidavits from Dr. Ryan Hall stating that if there is a court reporter and if there is a lawyer in the room

1 while the psych examination is moving forward,
2 it is going to interrupt the natural flow of 3 questioning and the natural process of the 4 examination.

5 If you look on Pages 6 through 12 of the 6 document that I provided to you, Dr. Hall
7 provides his opinion as to how and why it would
8 interrupt and conflict with the examination
9 process.

10 Yesterday we were in front of Your Honor,
11 and we -- this is an example of how the 12 Plaintiffs want all, each and every piece of 13 discovery they can get from Jeffrey Epstein,
14 but they don't want to follow other orders that 15 were similar in nature with regard to doing
16 discovery in their case. Judge Johnson has 17 already entered an order, like I said, Judge, 18 not limiting the scope of the examination and 19 providing for a video feed into an adjacent 20 room so counsel can be present and can monitor
21 the happenings in the examination.

22 I don't see a reason why counsel needs to 23 be present with the exception of what counsel
24 has told me himself, Mr. Edwards who is not 25 here today, is to make objections during the

1 psychological examination in order to preserve
2 the attorney-client, work product, and other
3 privileges that he may see fit to raise.

4 Well, the only thing that I can compare
5 that to is when you have a client on the stand
6 or you have a witness on the stand, and they 7 have been convicted of a crime of dishonesty or 8 false statement, the lawyer can't get up and 9 object while the questioning is happening
10 because that would disrupt the flow of the 11 answer and may prevent you from getting 12 certified records in.

13 THE COURT: Not to cut you off --

14 MR. PIKE: Yes.

15 THE COURT: -- but I do have to move on 16 and I have had these motions thousands of times
17 to deal with, so it's nothing terribly new but 18 I thank you for your courtesy.

19 MR. PIKE: Thank you, Judge.

20 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Your Honor, keeping that 21 in mind it is our position, first of all the 22 order has to deal with another Plaintiff in 23 another case. It has nothing do with these 24 Plaintiffs and they have rights.

25 Two, Rule 1.360 specifically provides for

1 and the Supreme Court case provides for a
2 Plaintiff has a right to have a court reporter,
3 a videographer, and an attorney in the room if 4 that's what they want. The case --

5 THE COURT: Do you concede that unless 6 it's disruptive or it can compromise the nature
7 and sensitivity of this type of process, and in 8 the affidavit of the doctor, the doctor
9 indicates the presence of third parties often
10 affects the examinees' response to examination
11 items that may alter or distract the stream of 12 thought that he poses having third parties
13 present in the examination room, and that the 14 test may be invalid as a result --

15 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Well -- I'm sorry, Your
16 Honor.

17 THE COURT: That's okay -- and that the 18 presence of a videographer or court reporter
19 and attorney in the examination room during my 20 performance of an independent medical 21 examination will create an artificial
22 environment, distraction, and would compromise
23 the integrity of my psychiatric examination,
24 and we strenuously object to the allowance of 25 same. The video camera in the room connected

1 by a monitor by cable outside the room would be
2 acceptable.

3 You know, I think that in a situation like 4 this, and I thank both parties for their 5 presentation, is that since there are 6 significant claims being made for mental 7 anguish and distress and the like, and 8 primarily all of the claims here are 9 psychiatric and psychological in nature, I
10 think that in this type of situation and using 11 broad discretion which is afforded to the 12 courts at the trial level by our appellate
13 courts, I am not going to permit an attorney, a 14 videographer, or court reporter within the 15 room.

16 At the Plaintiffs' expense a videographer
17 feed can be utilized in an adjacent room as 18 outlined by the physician. And the attorney,
19 videographer, and court reporter can be in that 20 adjacent room with the live feed to take down
21 any such information.

22 But in this particular case, and in these
23 cases that are before this Court, I believe 24 based upon the doctor's affidavit that the 25 integrity of the examination could well be

1 compromised by any third parties being in the 2 room with the physician and the doctor.

3 I will, however, require that a female
4 assistant to the physician be present in the 5 room. She shall have no active participation
6 in the examination. She will solely be present
7 for the comfort of the patients similar to many 8 physician's practices, whether it be 9 psychiatric or otherwise, to alleviate any
10 discomfort relative to the lack of another
11 female in the room.

12 Again, the safeguards are also in place
13 relative to the examination by virtue of the 14 Court's allowance of a videographer, attorney,
15 and court reporter in an adjacent room with a
16 live feed.

17 But again, for the comfort of the 18 examinee, I am going to require that a female 19 assistant to the physician be present unless 20 waved by the Plaintiffs.

21 MR. GOLDSTEIN: If I may, Your Honor, just 22 to clarify something: Two points, one, on 23 Page 4 of the case I did provide, which was 754
24 So.2nd 697, U.S. Security versus Cimino, the 25 court dealt with an issue with an affidavit.

1 post-examination before the Court. I will not
2 let anything in that I believe is prejudicial
3 or the prejudice outweighs the probative value.

4 MR. GOLDSTEIN: How about if we have a
5 court reporter at least to make a record?

6 THE COURT: As I said, I find it to be 7 distracting and I don't think that it is 8 necessary to go through an evidentiary hearing
9 under these circumstances. There is nothing to 10 suggest to this Court that the doctor that has 11 been chosen to do the CME is otherwise 12 unacceptable. And it's, again, I am providing 13 the necessary safeguards and do not want to 14 prolong this any further. I thank you for your 15 argument, both sides' presentation. The 16 Court's ruling stands as stated in the record.

17 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Can we get a stay, Your
18 Honor?

19 THE COURT: Not at this time, not without 20 written motion.

21 MR. PIKE: Judge, within the motion we
22 filed a requirement or a request for relief
23 that counsel provide [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] next week,
24 October 22nd and 23rd. We have our, we have 25 our expert scheduled. So, that is part of the

1 The court did state that even when a doctor
2 submits an affidavit which I got today, that 3 the insurer must prove, and that case it was an 4 insurer seeking the exam at an evidentiary
5 hearing conducted by the trial court that no
6 other qualified physician will be willing to 7 perform the exam with a third party present.
8 And that's specifically stated by the court and 9 it cites several cases. And that's on Page 4.

10 MR. PIKE: That's not an expert case,
11 Judge. This is our expert that we have hired.

12 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Yes, it is Your Honor.
13 It's a physician's examination.

14 MR. PIKE: It's an IME.

15 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Which is what this is,
16 Your Honor. This is a 1.360 IME and this is 17 all addressed by the Supreme Court in this 18 case. And my concern would be what do we do
19 if, procedurally if the attorney feels that a 20 question is privileged and the patient does not 21 know whether or not they should answer the 22 question, how -- there are going to be 23 interruptions. People are going to be in and 24 out of the room.

25 THE COURT: It can be done

1 relief of the motion.

2 MR. GOLDSTEIN: That's why we are seeking
3 the stay based on the Court's ruling today.

4 THE COURT: You will have to file a
5 motion, counselor.

6 MR. GOLDSTEIN: We or the defense, Your
7 Honor?

8 THE COURT: Pardon me?

9 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Us or the defense?

10 THE COURT: Yes, you. At this point the 11 examinations are set without an objection to 12 the dates otherwise --

13 MR. GOLDSTEIN: In light --

14 THE COURT: -- there is no objection to 15 the court's order.

16 MR. GOLDSTEIN: In light of the ruling
17 today, we would like to have a stay so we can 18 weigh our options.

19 THE COURT: You can file a motion in 20 writing and I will hear it next week.

21 MR. GOLDSTEIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

22 MR. PIKE: Thank you, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Thank you.

24 (The hearing was concluded.)
