

S E L I N E

the subtle art of sensory communication

Building brands requires building perception. Creating the perfect perception requires the perfect sensory appeal. The aim of SELINE and associates is to develop a true sensory signature for your brand: crafting the aesthetic appeal of an identity or product in the market place by refining its language of style.

For more information contact Seline Lewis

