Well, I sort of have the goods. Everything is encrypted and a little annoying. I have the 2006 one that uses a different software the only problem is that when I try to print, save, or do anything with it - it does this stupid watermark and blacks out all of the private information. Anyway, I will send it your way. Do you have a fax #? The 2009 one looks pretty similar although it's done in different software and has 2 more tables. Haven't done 2010 yet but I will have access to it when it comes out in August and send it to you.
