chat did not make it.. thanks for your time and the attachments.. same issue there is no null state of the rhesus involved , like the game theory, does each monkey have the same tolerance for aggression.. more units of x to expend, therefore no calling preferred until a critical point. like the slot machine player with a full cup versus the old jewish women who has two nickels left

don't know if my attempt to gmail chat made it through, but if not: thanks for having me, and for engaging in conversation from deception to helicopter interiors to russian babes to education and race to ethics to charitable giving to russian babes (oh yeah, i said that already).

am attaching a few older papers of mine re deception and deceptive signaling, related to our conversation. perhaps of interest, and if not, fortunately, no paper wasted!
