Jefferey,

As promised, attached is a short video illustrating the classification capabilities of my system on cats and dogs images. The system achieves human-level classification rates where, obviously, the images shown are ones that were not presented during the training phase. The engine behind it all is the hierarchical architecture I mentioned when we met.

Although this is a small-scale demo, it emphasizes the core competencies of the approach: robust information representation of complex patterns, based on examples alone.
