Money has not hit yet this morning. It appears they are playing games with their quarter ending June 30th as they do not want to show wall street 2 cancellations. I think money will hit Thursday or Friday. Please advise.

Thanks for checking. I can confirm that the wire will hit your account before the end of this week. I'm having our Finance folks redo the interest calculation so as to include the entire week (through 7/2, inclusive) in case it takes that long to actually hit your account. I'll forward that adjusted calculation as soon as I get it – anticipated to be within the afternoon.

I have verified that the test wire worked. Please let me know when you will be wiring so that I can have our people looking out for it. Also, please provide your calculations of interest so that we can confirm that the correct amount is being wired. Thank you.

Darren,

All is secure for the wire transfer to happen this week. In support of this, could you confirm that the designated account received a test transfer that was initiated by UTC earlier in June? Value was <$1.00 and, as I've just learned, this was done by our UTC-centralized payments center to validate the recipient account info since this is a first time and large transfer.

Thank you.
