Jeffrey,

Good morning! I will make all the necessary adjustments accordingly for the girls and have Stephanie book them in economy class. We will need to shorten the itinerary by three days in order to accommodate the revised budget that is no problem at all and it will still be incredible. As per my earlier email and per Peggy's request we have negotiated outstanding rates (during peak season) for the girls trip.

1. At Borana they are only charging a $50 per person fee to cover food (this is a personal favor for me as they typically do not offer anything of this sort)
2. At Lemartis, Cottars and ODW we have been given 4 nights for the price of three an offer that has only been on offer for the lower season months and not on offer for peak season.
3. We have offered a further 15% discount on top of all these discounts.

We will have the revisions through to you as soon as we receive them.

With Warm Regards,

Sandy

due to gift tax considerations, the max i can give to each girl is 13 k. they and you can either adjust trip , negotiate better prices,, ( which I think is the best option, I am very familiar with the flexibility of some of the accommodations you have chosen.. and as their flights still need booking, It looks like business class is out. thanks

Dear Jeffrey,

Please allow me to introduce myself. My name is Stephanie Hatfield and I am taking care of all the arrangements for Mattie and Miasha's Kenya Safari and Internship.

I have attached a copy of the itinerary for your reference as well as our pre-departure information that discusses immunizations and other important issues for travel to East Africa.

I am currently looking into airfare options for business class flights to Nairobi and will be in touch as soon as I have an air schedule and quote. Once we have that, I will invoice you for the total trip.

Thank you Jeffrey and please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns.

Have a wonderful afternoon!

Warm Regards,
Stephanie.

Stephanie Hatfield
