This makes me very very sad, as you can imagine, as we all put so much concentrated effort, thought, and ingenuity into this happening as quickly as possible, as it had to be done in a certain way that would get the respect that you deserved. Missed it by only a few days, as the google spiders should kick in at any day. So, it is really really frustrating to me too. Truly Jeff. You are a good friend, and I really really gave it my all. I think you know that. However, as you can see, the reaction to it has been overwhelmingly positive, and I believe it will allow many many more "horses" to come to the gate. When this is finished, and it really as the Vision up there on both sites, it will be a tremendous benefit to not only you (re-establishing your rep), but also a tremendous benefit to science, and that is a win-win. It didn't hurt at all.... And, it was a lot better use of fund than going to stinking attorneys and money-grubbing girls looking for easy big handouts on a large target.

it is the google headlines that are the problem not the links , unfortunately , as i told you in sept ,, it was this coming weekend that was the focus.. moving forward , i appreciate the effort, but unfortunately we have failed big time.. you had told me that there would be big changes by the end of oct. i would like to continue, ,, but the horse has left the gate. no rush now.. we can do it over time. I realize you are spending a great deal of time on this, it is not unwelcome.. the science page is fun, as is the philanthropy, I guess we tried. ..
