Your wiki entry:

GONE: 14 year old girl (now underage, changed just to massage and clothes on). Transsexual stuff, all graphic stuff, re-emphasis that girls lied about their age, girls changed to escorts, stuff about Ghislaine soliciting, Alfredo stuff toned down, etc., etc. This is massively different and toned down. THIS IS FAR FAR BETTER!

In March 2005, a woman contacted Palm Beach police, concerned that her underage step daughter had been propositioned by a wealthy man. The daughter told police that she had been paid $300 for giving a massage to Epstein in his mansion. She had told him that she was 18 years old.<sup>[5]</sup> She undressed but had left on her underwear.<sup>[7]</sup>

Police started an 11-month undercover investigation of Epstein, followed by a search of his home. Subsequently they alleged that Epstein had paid several escorts to perform sexual acts on him. Interviews with five alleged victims and 17 witnesses under oath, phone messages, a high school transcript and other items they found in Mr. Epstein's trash and home allegedly show that the girls were under 18, although they all maintained to him at the time that they were of proper age.<sup>[8]</sup> A search of Epstein's home found numerous photos of the girls throughout the house, some of whom had been interviewed earlier by the police.<sup>[7]</sup> He had set up a system of young women recruiting other women for his massage services.<sup>[5]</sup> Two housekeepers stated to the police that Epstein would receive massages every day whenever he stayed in Palm Beach.<sup>[7]</sup> In May 2006, Palm Beach police filed a probable cause affidavit saying that Epstein should be charged with four counts of unlawful sex with minors and one molestation count, in spite of the fact that the girls lied about their ages.<sup>[7]</sup> His team of lawyers included Gerald B. Lefcourt, Alan Dershowitz and later also Kenneth Starr.<sup>[5]</sup> Epstein had passed a lie detector test while being asked whether he knew of the under-age status of the girls.<sup>[9]</sup> They also questioned the credibility of the teenage accusers, based in part on their MySpace postings and information obtained by private investigators.<sup>[not in citation given][8][10]</sup>

Instead of following the recommendation of the police, the prosecutors considered the evidence weak<sup>[9]</sup> and presented it to a grand jury, an uncommon procedure in non-capital cases. The grand jury returned only a single charge of felony solicitation of prostitution,<sup>[11]</sup> to which Epstein pleaded not guilty in August 2006.<sup>[10]</sup>

In December 2007, it was reported that Epstein was involved in plea negotiations and was expected to plead guilty to a charge of soliciting prostitution and spend about 18 months under house arrest.<sup>[5]</sup> A guilty plea was finally reported on June 30, 2008.

After the accusations became public, several parties returned donations they had received from Epstein, including Eliot L. Spitzer, Mark A. Green, Bill Richardson,<sup>[4]</sup> and the Palm Beach Police Department.<sup>[8]</sup> Harvard announced that it would not return any money.<sup>[4]</sup>

On June 18, 2010 Epstein's former butler Alfredo Rodriguez was sentenced to 18 months in jail for trying to sell a journal that recorded Epstein's activities.

Civil lawsuits

[edit]

On February 6, 2008, an anonymous Virginia woman filed a $50 million civil lawsuit<sup>[12]</sup> in federal court against Epstein, alleging that when she was a 16-year-old minor in 2004-2005, she was "recruited to give Epstein a massage." After being brought to his Palm Beach mansion, she claims that he exposed himself and had sexual intercourse with her, and paid her $200 immediately afterward.<sup>[11]</sup> A similar $50 million suit was filed by a different woman in March 2008 who was represented by the same lawyer.<sup>[13]</sup> Several of these lawsuits were dismissed and all other lawsuits were amicably settled.<sup>[14]</sup>
