Can you give me a comprehensive list of non-scientific charities that you have donated substantial amounts to? this is for a site devoted to non-scientific charities.

Thanks.

As we continue to add more and more content to your real site, project zero, etc. etc. is going up today, more photos, etc. the site is now enough there (still will fix some glitches) for it to be real, and my suggestion would be to now send people you are dealing with directly to this site.

Remember, that we can not upload all the content that has already been created at once, as works against our goals. The google bots have not gone around in a while, they go every week or so, and so they have not picked it up yet, the rankings are still working on their last go around.

Remember to click through on headings for the full text. It is not abbreviated text, the full text is there, and in some cases, quite long. This way just causes the page to load faster. You might be interested in your testimonial page. You can just see everything also by clicking the links on the left side, but also remember to then click through again, to see the full content.

The text is NOT etched in stone, and so if you see any egregious errors, let me know and we can fix them right away.

Now, the links (which consist of making hundreds of sites) is being done in the Phillipines. That, in combination with the specific outlay of the style, tweaking of the website, will drive it to the top of the rankings, as well as other things.
