They just moved my initial multi engine checkride to Monday because of weather and examiner's schedule. I have to go to Fort Lauderdale to take it. This one is assigned by the FAA so I can't change it. Then there are 2 more add ons I need to finish for single engine and instrument instructor. That should take about 4 days but I get to choose where I do that. I might go back to NY or Jacksonville to finish up.

How are you doing?
