Good Afternoon,

There is a small snag regarding the order we placed of waterlilies.

You selected two varieties of waterlilies, from photos that I sent you, one variety was yellow, called "Carla's Sunshine" The other variety was a white colored waterlily called "Denver." You requested that we purchase 50 of each variety, giving you 100 total plants.

The issue is that the yellow variety, has a fungus issue, and will not pass USDA inspection for shipping until it is treated and the fungus is gone. The treatment is done, however there is a wait time of 5 weeks, until the fungus is completely gone.

You selected This Yellow variety:
it's called Carla's Sunshine

This is the White Variety you selected
It is Called "Denver"

*Now, the White Variety "Denver" is ready to ship,
I recommend, that we should go ahead and have it shipped.
Then get the yellow when it is ready to ship.

The only other option, is to select a substitute to the yellow,
your options are somewhat limited to what is available,

Stan Skinger (25 available plants)

St.Louis Gold (10 available plants)

Trail Blazer (10 available plants)

Please Advise.

Thank You,

Igala
