Jeffrey,

Here are some possibilities, which I will send in separate emails.

ALL these sculptures are plug and play, and involve NO moving parts, and can withstand a harsh environment. We can make these whatever size you wish, but the larger the size, the further away the viewing angle needs to be.... My company has built these for various science museums. Size, installation, and materials used will determine price.

They all have the element of surprise, as their true shape is different from what you expect.

I have this sculpture in our home.
