Hey Jeff!

Thanks so much for the past couple of days. I had a Blast! It's actually probably a good thing that we are not in close proximity to each other because we would just egg each other on in both trouble and adventure!

I would like to set up a time with you to speak next Sunday morning. Next weekend, Michael Douglas, one of the brightest theoretical physicists that I know, is staying with me over the weekend.

In 2008, Douglas moved from Rutgers to become the first permanent member of the Simons Center for Geometry and Physics, a research center at Stony Brook University. Mike would be very good to talk to about the physics center. For whatever reason, we were distracted from the topic, and I would like to discuss it with, and Mike would be a good person on the call.

Also, on Sunday, Isabel and I are hosting a celebrity gathering of theoretical physicists at our home in Malibu (they are in town for a big conference at Caltech). It really is an incredible group coming... Wish you could be here...

Moving to the other end of the spectrum, I am enclosing some photos of Denice, which you might find amusing, and they are recent...(with the last few years, around the time I was married to her). I also enclosed one from her modeling days. She is a piece of work...

Just heard this morning that Hawking is very seriously considering the Newton portrait in the price range that we discussed. I sent it to him last week, so I am hopeful that it will go. He tends to move at the speed of dark, and so, I am not sure how fast he will move on it, as he is working hard on his new book with one of my close buddies.

In the meantime, Isabel and I are in that barrel that we talked about (although I loved the analogy, Isabel didn't, ha, ha, ha. She's too vanilla...) and if there is any way help us out, and we could help you in return in any way, build you a cool sculpture, etc. we would be very grateful. We have a very severe liquidity problem for the next two - three months.

Also, happy to help arrange a really rock on fantastic group for you at either the ranch or on the island. Just need the dates that you can do this...

Cheers,
me
