Thank you for passing along. Yes, I got a similar message about an hour ago from George. A real shame as we all put a lot of energy into making this deal work.

The possibility does exist that George is wrong, but knowing him and Mike, I would be more inclined to bet on George.

I won't shut anything off completely until we get something more definitive.

I very much doubt that the buyer which Mike Jones presented is for real. I think the deal will collapse. I do think JE has gotten incredible prices from Sikorsky, not sure he would proceed without 750 being sold ....your thoughts. Also I do have another potential client in China I am working but it will be several weeks to resolve.
