AES+F

AES+F is a group of four Russian artists: Tatiana Arzamasova, Lev Evzovich, Evgeny Svyatsky, and Vladimir Fridkes who work in photography, video, sculpture, and mixed media. They are the strongest new artists coming out of Russia today.

The group's video "Last Riot," shown at the 2007 Venice Biennale, shows an imagined future digitally manipulated where snow capped mountains sit next to desolate beaches, neon dragons rest atop oil platforms, planes collide without flames, and a band of attractive teens enact violence on one another without consequence.

This piece in particular I find incredibly powerful.....do you think I am being a little cheeky? Hope so!
