Well... I have folks you can talk with..

You want: a consultant? Someone who knows lots of folks and can steer you to the most skilled person for your specific need?

Someone to make sure your stuff is secure? Someone to make sure someone elses, um, is not?

Yeah.

Depends on what you need.

Clint Hope is a good friend and he works for Bran Ferren and Danny Hillis and he consults with lots of folks.

I know a few Israelis... one in particular whose work I saw hacking into websites

I know some pretty decent hackers who even advise NSA. I have a good friend who attends Gadgetoff who is a computer security guru...

But John Markoff is friends with a bunch of folks with other complimentary skills.

Are we talking "codebreaking" precisely?
