Scott Rothstein's ribald language and aggressive sales style came out in emails attached to a lawsuit in Broward County Circuit Court on Friday. Attorney William Scherer attached two emails signed by Rothstein to investors in his alleged Ponzi scheme. The investors in the To: field are AJ, for AJ Discala; Dean Kretschmar and Doug Von Allmen. The emails are supposedly about a new lawsuit settlement that Rothstein had negotiated – the vehicle for enticing investors. In one of them written to Discala, he put a little smiley face at the end of the signature: Ciao, ciao, Money never sleeps Mother----- : -) Rothstein appears to be describing a $30 million settlement agreement where the supposed plaintiff is prepared to accept only $18 million if she can get paid out immediately. The investors are presumably being asked to pay the $18 million immediately and then collect the $30 million after six months. Here's the attached email: Hey AJ.... If you want to do something nice for one of your big funders (and for you and frank and dean and doug), I have a single deal on a sex harassment case I just settled. It involved a horrific sexual assault against a girl that just turned 18. She was a minor when the attack occurred. She is giving up huge money as she wants the attacker out of her life. She and her mom are moving the minute she gets her money. Deal is as follows:

Fund 18M

ROI 12M

6 months

Let me know.
