Jeffrey,

Just finished our conversation and let me tell you in one word: I met you a long time ago, I never stop admiring you, each time I met you, it was so special.

I do not care to have little stories with men, that is not important. The most important for me is for you to be aware that I will know to appreciate you all my life.

I need to admire the man with whom I will choose to do my life and have children and I simply wish that you would be this man.

I have a heart to love and naturally I "might need" to learn more with you about love... ;-)

You must understand that I have thought a lot about it, this is very serious and the most important decision of my life and of course, I regret to only talk on the phone about it because English is not my language.

Love,
