hi jeffrey,

i was thinking maybe i should just go there and start working, do samples, take measurements etc. its kind of hard from far imagining what to do without seeing the real colours, the size, the lighting etc..i have to relate the walls to the other objects in the room and then depends how big the surfaces are, calculate how much materials(paints, maybe venetian plaster, wax, maica powder maybe, etc) i need depends of the size of the rooms, then tools..different tipe of brushes, maybe i have to do stencils, etc. is there any art supply around? anyway, what do you think? when would you like me to start?

best regards,

ion nicola

ps. i attached here the walls we did in palm beach few weeks ago.. some venetian plaster and stenciling
