Hallo everyone!

I drove to Oman again for another visa-run. It's a nice 570 km (357 miles) drive. In Abu Dhabi Arabs park their cars so they block at least one other car and then leave their mobile number on the dashboard.

On the border back to UAE, I "parked" so I blocked the entire road to the immigration window! I nonchalantly left my car parked. When I came back the border-police had to remove roadblocks to let other cars by! A military guy asked me if that was my car blocking the road?
"Yeah..." I said and rushed in to my car and took off before they took back their visa!

The pavements here are lethally high.. ▮▮▮

▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮ Luckily I work for a very good company. They sent a driver to get the ▮▮▮▮. I'll have a driver to and from work - my boss. Yesterday I had my boss and some other important ▮▮▮▮ pick up lunch for me.

I'm moving this weekend which is less than optimal with my injured foot... ▮▮. My task this time is to hang out in the Hospitality Room and be hospitable = I will hang with my American colleague in a suite at the Sheraton, watch pay-per-view and order room-service...

Cheers! Appreciate your health!
