I make about 225K per year these days. [REDACTED]. I should be making 500 to 600K like my colleagues with similar skills but Im happy at the public hospital since I feel like the poorest should get the best even if they can't pay. Id work for free for them if I could.

[REDACTED] I feel like I shouldn't be someone's dependent. I try to save everything else. I have 250K in my 401k and 150K in savings. I own half of two properties with [REDACTED]. Lease my car (short attention span). I like watches so every few years I buy one.

Does that help?
