He thought I was too young to cut into the smooth skin like you said and he was very confident about this being a good option. Half of [REDACTED] on the photos I sent you from his website were done using this method, half doing [REDACTED] ..

Doctor said [REDACTED] is a much better option.

It was interesting, I think he is right. He showed me how he would do it. No scar. He would use a little device called [REDACTED] to hold it in place which then dissolves in 6months. He showed me pictures of this compared to [REDACTED] which leaves a little mark. He drew on [REDACTED] show me where he would cut if that's what I wanted and then he pulled [REDACTED] on the side to show me what the lift would look like..

He also laughed at the popping sound in [REDACTED] asked me who did that to me and if I wanted him to fix it.
