From: Adam Bly <███████████████████>
    To: Jeffrey Epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Subject: Re:
    Date: Mon, 19 Oct 2009 18:56:54 +0000

Sorry for the delay -- my girlfriend's father passed away and I was in Beirut for a few days with her.

It's certainly difficult for one writer to do justice to all of these frontier disciplines but possible, better to read, and easier to manager than a dozen writers. I think Don could do this or else someone else from our shop: I could send writing samples from another couple of writers if you'd like.

Would like to pick up discussion re Hersch and our foundation later this week if possible...

On Oct 4, 2009, at 8:12 PM, Jeffrey Epstein wrote:

adam , what i would like to do , is have someone interview the scientists that i have funded , and describe their work in an exciting . comprehensible collection. I,m not sure if it should be one writer, or a group of writers, who might be more attuned to individual fields . so that the person interviewing seth lloyd on quantum computing , doesn't give him a blank stare.. Is it your experience that a good writer, can grasp various disciplines, and a single voice would be easier to read, or choose from the pool.?
On Sun, Oct 4, 2009 at 10:54 AM, Adam Bly <███████████████████> wrote:
> The magazine typically pays $1/word, more for star writers/scientists
>
>
> On 9/30/09 9:21 AM, "Jeffrey Epstein" <jeevacation@gmail.com> wrote:
>
>
> adam how much do you pay a writer for an article?