Subject: How To Profit From Surging Volatility!

Date: Wed, 08 Jul 2009 18:51:12 +0000

Dear Jeffrey,

These are the times that most investors fear. Market volatility is surging. Uncertainty looms.

But for shorter-term traders with more accurate timing signals, these are precisely the conditions that can generate the most profits. For example ...

- The 55 percent market plunge through March of this year was an opportunity to make 110 percent profits, or more, with inverse ETFs.
- The 40 percent bear market rally was an opportunity to make almost as much money in far less time.
- And even the relatively small (so far!) Dow decline since June 5 — 7.8 percent — was enough to grab a 15.6 percent gain in just over a month.

The end to this up-and-down volatility is nowhere in sight. We're going to see more deep declines, more false rallies, and ultimately, a major recovery. So these moves — and the profit opportunities they offer you are just now beginning to heat up in a big way.

Just as we told you, the "green shoots" Bernanke thought he'd spotted a few weeks ago are turning out to be nothing more than crabgrass in America's economic lawn:

 UNEMPLOYMENT IS SURGING AGAIN: In June, the unemployment rate jumped to 9.5 percent, the highest since 1983. For the first time since the Great Depression, a staggering 100 percent of all the jobs created since the previous downturn have been wiped out.

 CONSUMER CONFIDENCE IS PLUNGING AGAIN: We just learned  that consumer confidence unexpectedly plunged by nearly 10 percent last month. The consumers whose spending accounts for 70 percent of the entire U.S. economy are snapping their wallets shut — saving every penny they can for the tougher times they see ahead.

 LOAN LOSSES ARE EXPLODING: The American Bankers Association is reporting that loan delinquencies are exploding.

In the first three months of 2009, delinquencies on both home equity loans and credit cards exploded to new, all-time record highs — and delinquencies on auto loans surged a mind-numbing 48 percent from the end of 2008.

Plus, according to Moody's, this flood of toxic debt is continuing RIGHT NOW: Charge-offs on bad credit card debt posted their sixth record high in a row — and these losses will surge to more than 12 percent by mid-2010!

The clincher: Despite the trillions of dollars in stimulus spending and Fed money infusions in recent months, Washington is now abuzz with talk of throwing billions more unbacked paper dollars at the economy with yet another stimulus package!

This is a trader's dream come true!

As I've often said, we are now witnessing a massive, historic tug of war — a fight to the death — between the relentless economic forces bent on dragging the economy into the abyss and Washington's unprecedented, historic, truly mind-boggling attempts to delay the inevitable.

As this epic battle continues to rage in the months and years ahead, it can only create massive, sweeping swings in the markets as investors shift from panic to euphoria and back to panic again.

It will create hundreds of truly huge, life-changing profit opportunities for traders who are equipped to spot those key turning points in the markets and in individual stocks.

And once you're armed with a better way to time your "buy" and "sell" decisions, you can make money whether the markets sink or soar:

When investments turn south for weeks or months at a time, you can go for substantial profits with inverse ETFs ...

And when inevitable bear market rallies occur, better market timing can give you dozens of opportunities to profit yet again!

This is precisely why my team and I hosted SOLVING THE TIMING MYSTERY and it's ALSO why Richard Mogeey and Larry Edelson have just posted their updated report for you online!

This report is our answer to your emails and posts asking us for a better way to make money from shorter moves in stocks, the dollar, oil, gold and other investments as volatility continues to rise.

The secret we reveal was born from The Great Depression — and a U.S. president's mandate to explain why these major turning points in the markets occur. And it has been tested, fine-tuned and refined over 80 years of scientific testing and use in the real world.

Once you put this missing piece of the timing puzzle to work for you — the remarkable secret to buying lower ... selling higher ... and making more money no matter which way the market moves — you'll be equipped to go for greater profits in this increasingly volatile environment and in EVERY investing environment for the rest of your life!

But time is now growing short. The seven specific forecasts and investment recos we deliver in Solving the Timing Mystery Part Two are simply too time-sensitive to leave online much longer.
