Jeffrey,

Mckenzie Tribe is a line of men's clothes that is produced by Vince Monet. It is a high end product that is casual in nature and is unique. You would wear it if you saw it. The touches that are incorporated into all the products from denims with leather inserts in the zipper area to the jackets, shirts, polo's, shorts, leathers are standouts.

He sold to over 300 specialty men's stores around the country, he now wants to open under the Mckenzie Tribe name. I know that you know people that are very successful in the retailing industry, this could be a big win. Let me know what you think. Vince Monet does not have the acumen and capital to make it happen, he needs help. The products are very special.

Hi Barry

This was prepared by Jack Abelson the beginning of the year & went to the guy that I mentioned yesterday to you. It should give you a quick look at the retail possibility. I am sure that the numbers - %'s etc., will change or could be tweaked one way or another based on other viewpoints & what we have learned over the last 6 months from both the retail &

Vince:

As per our discussion today regarding Barry Zelin, here are the Business Plan and Startup Costs for McKenzie Tribe retail stores. I have also enclosed a brief bio on myself for Barry's reference and I would encourage him to contact me for any further elaboration, etc. on the enclosed.

Thanks,
