

From: "Al seckel"
To: "Jeffrey Epstein" <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Subject: This is what I am doing for Michael Robertson
Date: Wed, 29 Apr 2009 13:55:50 +0000

---

Jeff,

I am organizing something similar for my friend Michael Robertson. Michael's property can accomodate 60 people, as he has eight houses on the property. Pity you can't join. :-)

Here is the invite that just went out a couple of days ago:

I wanted to invite you to a special by-invite only informal over the weekend event at Michael Robertson's sprawling and incredible ranch in San Diego. It's on May 22nd to May 24. It's a pretty incredible list of people, and the emphasis is on fun.

Michael Robertson has created some high profile startups, including MP3.com, etc. You can read about him here:

<http://michaelrobertson.com/about.php>

Here is the invite, please take a look:

<http://metal.pingg.com/MUSL>

This Memorial Day Getaway will feature a combination of stimulating discussions between the visionary participants and activities that highlight everything this unique location has to offer. Expect fantastic conversation, great food, good booze and a second-to-none hidden valley with great 360 views and lots of testosterone activities like Quads, motorcycles, paintball, horseback riding... The MUC's agenda will be determined by the unique contributions of its participants, so please come prepared to share something that will contribute to the spirit of the event (e.g. lead a discussion, share a talent, or teach a skill to suggest a few).

There are some views on this invite of his absolutely incredible property. Thought you might enjoy this, as it will be fun...

Cheers,
me