lets consider as an option , moving the cabana to the center under the rock wall where our entrance used to be,, thereby when you sit in it , you face north view. otherwise th cabana view is the wall between, pool and main house. have a column wall and a covered terrace on the east , , simimare to the master bedroom, straight colums. , that can have shutters on the outside to modulate the wind,

Hi Jeffrey,

Thank you for having Tom and me out at the Island this week. I know your schedule is extremely busy, and I really appreciate the amount of time you were able to spend with us. The work sessions were productive, and I think we have a clear approach to the new conceptual layout.

Next week, we are going to provide a revised conceptual plan for the main residence area, including the pool area, living room/cabana, and primary circulation paths. I will include notes about each of the various areas we discussed. Gary and I are also working on a master schedule for design and construction of each of these areas.

For clarity and efficiency, and to make sure we prioritize your needs, I think we need to separate major areas into the following:

1. Main Residence. This is the primary focus. This includes the pool area, the living room, the north terrace, and the stairs connecting the master bedroom, terrace, living room area, and east upper garden area.
2. Guest cottage. New guest cottage with 2 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms and a sitting room, patio and access stair.
3. Spa. 4 treatment rooms, sitting area, bathroom/support spaces. With exterior sitting area near top of nursery, and hardscape treatment at bottom of nursery (over existing concrete pad).
4. Music room.
5. Staff cottage. 4 bedrooms with private baths, living/dining/kitchen area, laundry and support.

I am also contacting our A/V consultant for recommendations on appropriately-scaled equipment for your living room/media room.

I will issue a more detailed summary next week.

Thank you again,

Warwick
