Hot & Cold: ASW's Winter To-Do List

by Brenna Kearney

Winter has more to offer than slopes and sitting by the fire. Don't let the cold weather freeze your social schedule. Leave the heated blanket behind (but remember to turn it off first because it's a fire hazard), skip the cocoa, and celebrate winter like a jet setter should.

Copenhagen Winter Festival at Tivoli, Copenhagen, Denmark
19 November - 30 December 2010

It's that time of year again. Nearly every city has their version of a holiday festival, but no place does the holidays quite like Copenhagen's Tivoli. With fairy lights designed by Tiffany & Co., market stalls offering modern and traditional Danish wares, seasonal food and cocktails, and a Christmas cabaret, Europe's oldest amusement park can do no wrong. Sip gløgg, a traditional mix of spiced wine, port, cherry wine, rum, and a dash of almonds and dried cherries, while shopping for holiday gifts. For more info go to tivoli.dk.

Gstaad ASW Winter Weekend, Gstaad, Switzerland
17 - 19 December 2010

Welcome the arrival of winter with some of your closest ASW friends. Hosted by ASW Chairman Patrick Liotard-Vogt, ASW's first Winter Weekend takes over Gstaad, the ritzy Swiss enclave long favoured by the likes of Elizabeth Taylor, Grace Kelly, and royals from Europe and beyond. From romantic carriage rides and race cars to burlesque shows and the black-tie Save a Child's Heart Gala, the ASW Winter Weekend has it all. There are club nights at Green Go, poker lessons with European poker champions, and a charity raffle for "Miles and More" miles, diamond necklaces, and luxury gift bags. Guests will be housed in the lavish Palace hotel. Make enough memories to last until the second ASW Winter Weekend. For reservation options and to see the full itinerary, go to https://www.asmallworld.net/special_events/gstaad_packages.

Nutcracker: Rated R, New York, NY

9 – 31 December 2010

Back by popular demand, David F. Slone, ESQ. and the Love Show present Angela Harriell's Nutcracker: Rated R for its second season in New York City at the Theater for the New City. Rife with double entendre possibilities (the title, for starters), Nutcracker: Rated R turns the classic ballet on its head, complete with sex, drugs, rock & roll, and a whole lot more. Seats are extremely hard to come by. Book in advance at nutcrackerratedr.com.

Great Wines Fair, Carrousel du Louvre, Paris, France

10 - 11 December 2010

Not all wines are created equal. Discover the difference between the best and the rest at the Great Wines Fair in Paris. The Great Wines Fair gives visitors the chance to experience some of the finest wines in the world with tastings and an engaging schedule of conferences. Over 100 chateaux plan to participate, including representatives from Alsace, Beaujolais, Bordeaux, Burgundy, Champagne, and many more. For the full programme, list of producers, and ticketing options go to grandtasting.com.
