Heres one to watch. Many others already resolved with precedents set. Will make a list. John Doe alleges he was falsely accused by a male PhD student of sexual assault, and Virginia Tech denied him due process rights when it improperly suspended him.

The crazy idea that you in your words. Will DEMAND being allowed to keep your laptop. Is soooo nuts. Given your precarious position . The age discrimination is a problem for them. And now they are aware. . both good and bad. Good that it might give them pause. As no older person has been charged before. Or bad as they can just delay signing now for 21 days.

I was going to say that I thought the damage had already been done re the age discrimination thing because Justin talked to he about it and informed her of the law when he first spoke to her yesterday afternoon. Anyway we should have left that document till the morning when you had a chance to see it.

Let's see what happens. I have mixed feelings if I want it to succeed.

Ruling from over one year ago on violation of rights during investigation that also included recommendations for improving due process.

“failure to provide any form of confrontation of the accuser made the proceeding against John Doe fundamentally unfair,”
