RE: Jeffrey Epstein

Dear Mr. Pinette:

This letter will confirm the agreement between Darren K. Indyke PLLC (“me”) and John Pinette (“you”) with respect to your performance of confidential services for me with regard to the above referenced client. All references to me include all members, associates, employees, agents, and other representatives of my firm. All references to you include all associates, employees, agents, and other representatives of you in connection with your performance of such confidential services. All references to the client include all employees, agents, and other representatives of the above named client and all affiliates of such client and such employees, agents and other representatives.

I have been retained by the above referenced client to provide legal services to the above referenced client in connection with certain ongoing civil and criminal matters. You have been retained to work under my direction and report directly to me. Your work includes services of a character and quality that are related to my services to the client as an attorney in rendering legal advice to the client. Pursuant to our agreement, all communications between you and the client or you and me, shall be confidential, and shall be made solely for the purpose of assisting me in my representation of the client.

You agree not to disclose to anyone, without my written permission, the existence, nature, or content of any oral or written communications related in any manner to the subject matter of my representation of the client. You agree not to disclose to anyone any information you gain from the inspection of any record or document submitted to you, including information obtained from records or documents coming into your possession, or created by you during the performance of your services under this agreement. You will not acknowledge the existence of, or permit inspection of, any such papers or documents without written permission from Darren K. Indyke in advance.

All work papers, records, or other documents, regardless of their nature and the source from which they emanate, shall be held by you solely for my convenience and subject to my unqualified right to instruct you with respect to possession and control. Any work papers prepared by you or anyone working with or under you or on your behalf will belong to the above-referenced client or my law firm, as the case may be.

Under this agreement, you will immediately notify me of any of the following events relating in any way to the client, my representation of the client or your performance of confidential services hereunder:

1. The exhibit or surrender of any documents or records prepared by or submitted to you or someone under your direction in a manner not expressly authorized by my law firm;
2. A request by anyone to examine, inspect, or copy such documents or records; or
3. Any attempt to serve, or the actual service of, any court order, judicial or administrative subpoena, or judicial or administrative summons upon you that requires a production of any such documents or records.

You will immediately return all documents, records, and work papers to me at my request. You agree that documents, records, and work papers include all material regardless of the form or medium on which it is kept, including all forms of electronic media.

You understand that you have not been retained to render advice of any nature directly to the client with respect to any matters related to my representation of, and my providing legal services to, the client. You agree to keep accurate and complete records of all work performed by you within the scope of this agreement. You agree to bill for such work separate and apart from any billing for services performed for the client that are outside of the scope of this agreement.

Please indicate your acceptance of the terms of this agreement by signing the enclosed copy of this letter and returning it to me. Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Darren K. Indyke
Sole and Managing Member
